1. Policy Statement
   This Policy discusses the university’s prohibitions against discrimination and harassment based upon membership in enumerated protected classes as well as the prohibitions against retaliation based upon the exercise of rights pursuant to the Policy. The scope of the Policy is set forth herein, as well as definitions of harassment and discrimination. The Policy also references the process for reporting violations of the Policy.

2. Reason for the Policy
   To inform all members of the Rutgers community that this Policy applies to all areas of university operations and programs.

3. Who Should Read This Policy
   All members of the Rutgers University community.

4. Related Documents
a. Policy 10.2.11, Student Code of Conduct
b. Policy 60.1.1, Employment of Relatives
c. Policy 60.1.8, Equal Employment Opportunity and Affirmative Action Policy
d. Policy 60.5.1, Academic Freedom Policy
e. Discrimination and Harassment Complaint Process:
f. Title IX Policy for Employees
g. Staff and Faculty Guidelines for Disability Accommodations
h. Workplace Violence Policy
i. Student Life Policy Against Verbal Assault, Harassment, Intimidation, Bullying and Defamation
j. Staff and Faculty Guidelines for Religious Accommodations
5. Contacts
   a. University Human Resources
      Office of Employment Equity 848-932-3973
      employmentequity@hr.rutgers.edu
   b. Office of Student Conduct 848-932-9414

6. The Policy

   60.1.12 POLICY PROHIBITING DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT

I. POLICY

   Rutgers University is committed to a working and learning environment for all faculty, staff and students that is free from discrimination and harassment, including sexual harassment. The university strictly prohibits discrimination and harassment based on membership in certain enumerated protected classes (“protected classes”). These classes are race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, sexual orientation, pregnancy, gender identity and expression, disability, genetic information, atypical hereditary cellular or blood trait, marital status, civil union status, domestic partnership status, military service, veteran status, and any other category protected by law. Harassment is a form of discrimination and, therefore, harassment directed toward an individual or group, or experienced by an individual or group, based on membership in a protected class, also violates university policy.

   Discrimination and harassment compromise the integrity of the university and unfairly interfere with the opportunity for all persons to fully participate in the academic, work, and living environment at Rutgers. The university recognizes the human dignity of each member of the Rutgers community and believes that each member has a responsibility to promote respect and dignity for others so that all employees and students are free to pursue their educational and work goals in an open environment, participate in the free exchange of ideas, and to share equally in the university’s employment and educational opportunities. To achieve this end, the university strives to foster an academic, work, and living environment that is free from discrimination and harassment on the basis of membership in the protected classes referenced above.

   At the same time, the university is committed to the principles of academic freedom and believes that vigorous discussion and debate, as well as free inquiry and free expression, are an integral part of the university community.¹

II. SCOPE

   This policy applies to all areas of university operations and programs, including the conduct of all university employees and student employees that arises out of their employment status, as well as to the conduct of all interns, volunteers, vendors, contractors, subcontractors, and others who do business with the university.

III. DEFINITIONS

   A. Discrimination is defined as an intentional or unintentional act which adversely affects employment or educational opportunities on the basis of membership in one or more protected classes. Rutgers provides equal employment opportunity to all its employees and applicants for employment regardless of their race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, sexual orientation, pregnancy, gender identity and expression, disability, genetic information, atypical hereditary cellular or blood trait, marital status, civil...

¹See Academic Freedom Policy 60.5.1.
All regulations and procedures are subject to amendment.
Page 3 of 6
NON-VERBAL CONDUCT
- Display of offensive material or objects
- Suggestive or insulting gestures, sounds, or whistles

VERBAL CONDUCT
- In some instances, innuendo or other suggestive, offensive, or derogatory comments or jokes about sex, or other protected categories listed in Section I above
- Extortion, overt threats, or intimidation
- Obscene or harassing messages sent via computer or left on an answering machine or voice mail

C. Sexual violence, also referred to as sexual assault, is an extreme form of sexual harassment. It involves nonconsensual sexual contact and may involve the use of force or coercion, or sexual contact with a person who is unable to consent due to incapacity or impairment. Sexual violence may occur between members of the same or opposite sex.

IV. SEXUAL HARASSMENT AND ROMANTIC RELATIONSHIPS

Sexual relationships that occur in the student-teacher context or in the context of employment supervision or evaluation present special problems. These types of sexual relationships are especially vulnerable to exploitation due to the difference in power and the respect and trust that are often present between a teacher and a student, a supervisor and a subordinate, or a senior and junior colleague in the same unit. As a result of this power differential, a student or a subordinate's "voluntary" participation in a sexual relationship with an individual in a position of power or authority does not alone demonstrate that the conduct was welcome. The attempts of a teacher to show a romantic interest in a student may constitute sexual harassment. Similarly, a supervisor's display of a romantic interest in a subordinate may constitute sexual harassment.

Therefore, the university strongly discourages sexual relationships between individuals where there is an imbalance of power where one individual is in a position to make decisions which may affect the educational opportunities or career of the other. These relationships include student/teacher and supervisor/subordinate sexual relationships, and any other sexual relationship between two individuals wherein one individual has the power to make decisions that may have an impact, either direct or indirect, on the career or educational opportunities of the other. Employees in romantic relationships must recuse themselves from decisionmaking when the decisions at issue may have an impact, either direct or indirect, on the employee with whom they are romantically involved. Those who abuse their power in such circumstances may be found to have violated this Policy.

In light of the above, any individual with supervisory or educational responsibility for an employee, faculty member or student must inform his or her immediate supervisor of the consensual relationship, so that the university can take action to make changes that eliminate the conflict of interest. If the university is unable to eliminate this conflict of interest, employees will be provided with the opportunity to decide which of the two will resign their employment. Failure to give proper notice to the appropriate supervisor may result in the denial of legal representation and

---

4 Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 is a federal law that prohibits sex discrimination in education programs or activities that receive Federal financial assistance. Rutgers is subject to Title IX, which provides: "No person in the United States shall, on the basis of sex, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any education program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance." To report sexual harassment, sex discrimination, or sexual violence in violation of Title IX, see http://compliance.rutgers.edu/discrimination/-/title-ix-compliance. See also the Title IX Policy for Employees, and the Workplace Violence Policy, at: http://policies.rutgers.edu/view-policies/human-resources-hr-%E2%80%93-section-60

5 An abuse of power may be, but is not limited to, inflating a student's grade, promising an employee a promotion, or providing preferential academic or employment opportunities to an individual based on a romantic or sexual relationship.
indemnification in the event that a lawsuit based on the relationship is filed. In addition, failure to give proper notice to the appropriate supervisor may result in disciplinary action.

V.  ACADEMIC FREEDOM

The classroom and other instructional settings (e.g., studio, laboratory) present special problems because academic freedom protects the expression of ideas, even when the idea or its expression may be perceived to be offensive, if conduct or statements which are the subject of a complaint are germane to the subject matter taught. The educational process is predicated upon the free exchange of ideas, and this Policy shall not be interpreted to prohibit free expression protected by the First Amendment. The National AAUP’s Statement on Professional Ethics provides that professors should avoid any exploitation, harassment, or discriminatory treatment of students. The 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure provides that Professors should not introduce into their teaching controversial matter which has no relation to their subject. Accordingly, if conduct or statements which are the subject of a complaint occurs in an instructional context and are germane to the subject matter being taught, wide latitude is required for professional judgment in determining the appropriate content and presentation of the academic material being taught. Therefore, harassment in violation of this Policy will not be found to exist in an instructional setting unless the conduct or statements which are the subject of a complaint are not germane to the subject matter taught and:

• are directed toward an individual or group based on one or more of the protected classes listed in Section I above;
• are sufficiently severe or pervasive to alter an individual’s educational environment;
• creates an objectively hostile learning environment; and
• are, in fact, perceived as hostile by the complainant.

VI.  REPORTING DISCRIMINATION AND HARASSMENT

Any member of the university community alleging discrimination or harassment on the basis of membership in any of the protected classes is encouraged to report it immediately to the Office of Employment Equity. If managers and supervisors receive reports of discrimination or harassment, they are required to refer them immediately to the Office of Employment Equity.
One does not have to be the direct target of the discrimination or harassment to report it.
Complaints against students, arising out of their conduct as students, are addressed by the Code of Student Conduct, Policy 10.2.11.

Any individual who believes that he or she has been the victim of a crime (including but not limited to forced physical contact and/or sexual violence) also has a right, and is encouraged, to report the incident to the appropriate law enforcement agency. Questions about law enforcement assistance and involvement may be directed to the Chief of Police on each campus.

The university is committed to responding to reports and complaints of discrimination and harassment promptly, fairly, and with sensitivity, as outlined in the Discrimination and Harassment Complaint Process. Upon completion of the Complaint Process, the university will take

6 The Director of the Office of Employment Equity supervises the operation of the Policy and the Discrimination and Harassment Complaint Process. The Office is also a resource for all members of the university community, and is responsible for arranging education and training for the community regarding the Policy and the Complaint Process.
   Contact information for the Director is 848-932-3973 or employmentequity@hr.rutgers.edu.

7 Additional information about complaints against students can be found at http://studentconduct.rutgers.edu/ or by contacting the Office of Student Conduct, which responds to such complaints, and can be reached at 848-932-9414 or conduct@rci.rutgers.edu.

   Information is also available at http://uhr.rutgers.edu/policies-resources/policies-procedures/policy-and-compliance-guidelines/discrimination-and.

All regulations and procedures are subject to amendment.
Page 5 of 6
appropriate corrective action consistent with the results of the investigation. Disciplinary action, up to and including discharge, may be taken against an employee who violates this Policy.

The university will maintain confidentiality as to discrimination and harassment complaints, and the investigation of those complaints, to the extent possible. Only those who have a need to know will be told the identity of the parties to a complaint. Any manager, supervisor or other employee who violates confidentiality as to a complaint of discrimination and/or harassment will be subject to appropriate sanctions. Please contact the Office of Employment Equity with any questions regarding confidentiality.

In some instances, a complainant may choose to take no action or to defer action until a later date in order to maintain anonymity. In these instances, the university reserves the right to limited disclosure and to take appropriate action in order to ensure the safety and well-being of members of the university community.

VII. RETALIATION

The university prohibits retaliation against individuals who, in good faith, assert their rights to bring a complaint of discrimination or harassment as defined in this Policy, participate in a discrimination or harassment investigation, or protest the alleged discrimination, harassment, or retaliation. Retaliation is an offense separate from the original complaint of discrimination, and will be considered independently from the merits of the underlying complaint. Individuals who believe they have been subjected to retaliation should report the conduct to the Office of Employment Equity.

VIII. FALSE ACCUSATIONS

Anyone who knowingly makes a false accusation of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation will be subject to appropriate sanctions which may include, but are not limited to, written warning, demotion, transfer, suspension or termination.

---

9 Complaints of discrimination or harassment against vendors, contractors, subcontractors, and others who do business with the university will be handled by the Director of the Office of Employment Equity.

All regulations and procedures are subject to amendment.
Page 6 of 6